IN MEMORY

The missionary society of the United Presbyterian church wishes to express its esteem for Mrs. Frank Todd, who has died, in the following verses:

This good life was sent on a mission of cheer;
So well did she serve that her name became dear
To all those who knew the full mete of her worth,
Or felt the rare charm of her innocent mirth.

A sweet smile was sure every person to greet,
Who chanced in life's path our dear friend to meet;
Her life was made bright by the glow of her fun;
Her friends were thus helped in the race they must run.

Her thoughts were of others, their welfare to seek,
Her words were well chosen, were wise and were meek,
Her hands on some errand of ministry bent,
Were busy in service wherever she went.

Her coming was like the appearance of light;
Her going was like the approach of night;

No wonder she leaves a sad place in each breast
That throbs with its pain since she entered her rest.

We loved her, we cherish her memory dear,
Though gone, we still feel that her presence is near.

With tenderest hearts her true worth we record,
And bow in our grief to the will of our Lord.

In time of our sorrow we come, Lord, to thee,
To bless for this treasure whose worth we now see;

Give grace and give comfort with us to reside
Until in thy glory we also abide.

SPECIAL STAGES TO HUNTINGTON LOT AUCTION

Numbers of people in Orange and Los Angeles counties today prepared to go to Huntington Beach tomorrow, where an auction sale of ocean front lots, city lots and half-acre lots will be held, beginning at noon. The auction is to be held in the Methodist Auditorium, on the camp grounds, and 350 of the lots will be disposed of. The Huntington Beach Company feels that the lots will go at a tremendous sacrifice of value and that a large number of home-seekers and bargain hunters will profit immensely by the sale.

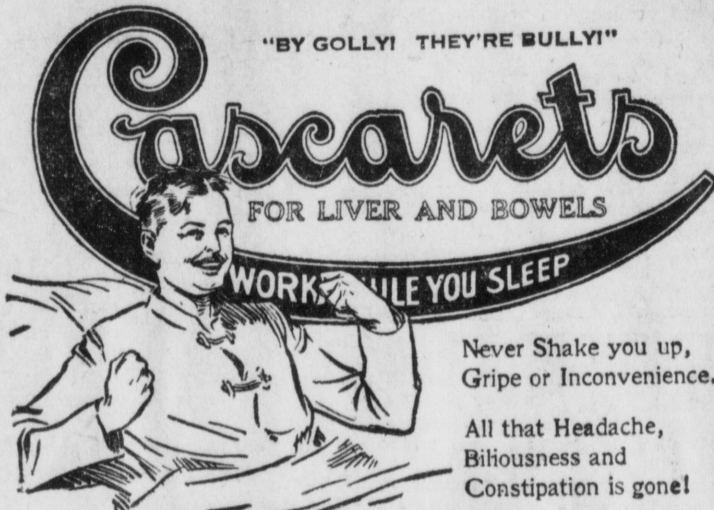

Summer homes at the ocean's edge always appeal to small investors and the steady growth of the beach insures the purchasers that an investment is secured by the rapid and solid growth of the city. The sale will be held regardless of weather conditions.

Mr. Charles Grewe Tells How Cuticura Healed Pimples

"I had pimples and itching enough to set one crazy. My face, neck, arms and back were covered with pimples and they later became an entire scale so that I looked horrible. I was ashamed of myself. Many nights I did not sleep, and I soon became nervous. The pimples were hard and red, and were very large, and I scratched the parts affected.

"I saw an advertisement about Cuticura Soap and Ointment so I sent for a free sample. I bought more, and I used four cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment which healed me." (Signed) Charles Grewe, 215 South 5th St., Steubenville, Ohio, Mar. 27, 1919.

DISCRIMINATION, IS CLAIM OF TEACHERS

VENICE, Mar. 5.—A special meeting of the school board has been called for Saturday night at which it will be ascertained whether the complaint of some teachers that they have been discriminated against is justified. The teachers declare that during the recent influenza epidemic a number of them were paid for the time they were not working, while others were ignored. The question has aroused much discussion and the meeting Saturday promises some heated arguments.

City and County Briefs

The regular services of the B'nai B'rith congregation will be held tonight at 7:45 p. m., at the Red Men's Hall. There will be a short lecture on Jewish history between the fifth century and the tenth century, by Rabbi J. H. Boucher. The religious school will give an entertainment Sunday, Mar. 7, in honor of Purim, which was observed Thursday of this week, at 7 p. m.

Workmen employed in bailing out the Heffern well, east of Anaheim, now intend to "pull back" from the 4500-foot level to the 3000-foot level, unless there is a radical change in prospects of bringing in oil. The employees are quite as being frank in saying that the present showing is not such as justifies great hopes of "anything worth while."

Action on a suggestion made by J. K. Brown of West Anaheim, to the effect that the Mother Colony hold a Valencia Orange Show, perhaps in June, is expected to be taken Monday evening by the board of trade at Anaheim. Brown made the suggestion following a visit to the Orange Show at San Bernardino.

Funeral services were held at Anaheim today for Roy Allen Betzold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Betzold, who died at the Anaheim Sanitarium Tuesday evening, following a brief illness. Roy Betzold was 17 years of age, and his death came as a shock to his many friends at the Mother Colony. Aside from his parents he leaves three sisters, May, Alice and Edna, and two brothers, George and Matthew. Interment was made in Holy Cross cemetery.

Following an operation performed on his right eye, P. E. Seigfried, 145 South Cypress street, Orange, has returned to his home from the Santa Ana hospital. The sight of his eye has been practically restored.

Friends of D. G. Wettlin, incumbent city clerk of the city of Orange have circulated and filed a petition advancing him as a candidate for the office he now holds. Wettlin has been ill for some time, and still is confined to his home.

The following letters remain unclaimed in the postoffice at Santa Ana, Cal., for the week ending March 6, 1920: Mrs. M. A. Ehrigton, Ynez Errera, Crespiniano Juarrigue, Maria Martinez, Manuela Sandoval. If not claimed within two weeks, the above letters will be sent to the Dead Letter office.

Yellow Mustard For Rheumatism

A good hot mustard plaster or poultice is pretty sure to overcome most rheumatic pains and even sciatica and gout but it's a messy affair and generally blisters. Heat is absolutely necessary if you want permanent relief. Begy's Mustardine, made of true yellow mustard with pain relieving ingredients added is just as hot, is cheaper, cleaner and more effective than the old-fashioned poultice or plaster and cannot blister.

Besides rheumatic pains and swellings Begy's Mustardine is speedily effective for lumbago, backache, neuritis, pleurisy, bronchitis, sore throat, chest colds and all aches and pains because heat eases pain—30 and 60 cents at druggists or by mail, S. C. Wells & Co., LeRoy, N. Y.

YOUR FRECKLES--

Need Attention in March or May Stay Covered

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish to look well the rest of the year. The March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use Othine—double strength.

This preparation for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of Othine—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.—Adv.

GIRL INJURED
Antonia Baldevia, a school girl, was injured at Orange today when struck by an automobile driven by W. H. Peterkin. The little girl jumped in front of the auto, it was stated. Her injuries are not serious.

SUIT CONTINUED

After a certain amount of testimony had been taken in the action brought by Bert O. Osher and Bertha Hoane against R. R. Pember and a number of other defendants, the case was continued in the court of Superior Judge West until March 11, at 9:30. The plaintiffs seek to have Mary Osher, one of the defendants, adjudged incompetent, alleging that two of her children, who are living with her, are exerting undue influence over her with a view to inducing her to part with her estate.

BRINGS SCHOOL CHARGES

Mildred Moody has sworn to complaints charging two men with failure to send their children to the Fountain Valley school. In one complaint Regorio Dominguez is charged with failure to send three minors to school, and in the other C. Romero is the defendant, charged with failure to send one minor to school.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel. The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "foggy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 10c and 25c.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?

Registration of voters is not up to the volume it should be, according to records and reports of the county clerk. Perhaps a good many voters do not realize that they must register this year, or else be deprived of a vote in any election. In this presidential year elections are far too important to be ignored by good citizens. Every voter should be registered and prepared to vote in the preferential primary early in May. One of the lessons that the World War taught Americans, it is to be hoped, is that of the transcendent importance of using the franchise right, so that government may be representative and so that the people may institute efficiency in government through the nomination and election of capable men pledged to exemplify and to promote the best in government. The citizen is a power for good in the proper government of the municipality, the county, the state and the nation only as he votes. And he cannot vote, in this state, unless he qualifies by registering.

A LEAGUE ELECTION

The Register has been waiting, with keen interest and expectancy, to see what the opponents of the League of Nations would say about the result of the recent election in the Third Missouri Congressional district. And so far they haven't had anything to say. The result, as was admitted by both parties during the campaign for the election of a successor in congress to Secretary Alexander of the Interior Department, hung upon the League issue. The Republicans made opposition to the Covenant their platform, and Senator Hiram Johnson made some vitriolic anti-League speeches in the district. Senator Reed of Missouri, a Democrat, has been among the most bitter opponents of the League in any form. But the voters repudiated both their own senator and our brilliant California "bitter-ender." They elected Captain Jacob Milligan, League advocate, by a majority slightly larger than that by which the district was carried by Alexander in 1918. It has been pointed out that the result is not so much defeat for the Republican candidate, as such, as it is a rebuke for senatorial obstructionists of both parties.

THOSE STRIKE RUMORS

Recent reports had it that the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America had demanded a 44-hour week and a fifty per cent wage increase. The Amalgamated is the most important of the New England mill workers' unions, and that its members should have taken such radical action created some consternation. The threatened strike, however, did not materialize, and it later developed that the demands were formulated at a meeting of a handful of radicals presided over by a self-appointed leader. The experience of the Amalgamated is but a repetition on a small scale of the history of the steel strike. A few radical leaders determined upon a strike and forthwith organized the radical elements in the steel industry for that purpose. The better class of workers refused to aid in the strike, and it soon failed. The same conditions exist in the ranks of union labor throughout the country. Everywhere is found a radical and unscrupulous element whose leaders are constantly fomenting dissatisfaction largely for the purpose of giving themselves personal publicity. They are the ones who make the big noise, and in the name of organized labor call loudly for shorter hours, higher wages, and decreased production. The penalty for non-compliance with their demands is strikes that will dislocate our economic system and bring suffering to an innocent public. The men who are the most active in such movements are of foreign nativity or extraction, with little regard for our national institutions. Few of them have family responsibilities or wives and children depending upon them for support. An analysis of organized labor in our industrial and transportation systems will show that by far the greater number of workers are sober, industrious, and law-abiding citizens, whose chief concern is to have a steady job at a reasonable wage, and be permitted to live peaceably in the enjoyment of their families. They are usually men who have been a part of their industrial organization for a number of years, and take pride in the growth and prosperity of the concern to which they belong. They have little use for the element who have recently entered the industrial field, and are the leading participants in dissensions over working conditions. It is to this conservative class of workers that the country must look to rid organized labor of the radical leaders and their deluded followers who seek to pervert the purposes for which unionism was established. The influence of those destructive agencies appears to be on the wane. A few months ago strikes and threatened strikes in all lines of activity were the order of the day. With the retirement from power of the leaders chiefly instrumental in fomenting those disturbances, saner counsel is gaining the upper hand and labor is seeking other methods than destructive strikes to obtain its ends.

FIRST VOTERS

If we may accept the word of Judge Willis Brown, founder of the Utah State Juvenile Court, the Parental Court and School of Gary, and the Boy City, it is the boys who are going to decide this election. "There are about 4,000,000 boys who will be first voters this year," he explains. "That is more first voters, by many thousands, than there ever were before. Form these into a First Voters' League, and you will have a potential force that will not only elect the next president, if properly organized, but will run the country, giving us more patriotism and common sense, more purposeful leaders and saner laws than those that now encumber our national life." This seems a good deal to expect from the lads all at once. There is no question, though, of the potential elective power of that youthful army. The subject is respectfully referred to political leaders, who thus far do not appear to have taken the boys so seriously as they used to.

It is just as well, however, to add the warning of Judge Brown, that this is "peculiarly a non-partisan year." Possibly the boys will not be found so susceptible to tagging with party labels and enlistment in partisan activities as their fathers were at the same age. Boys may not think very clearly about public affairs, but they are quicker than their elders to catch the spirit of the time; and it is always feeling rather than logic that determines the attitude toward public affairs. It is not very likely that anybody will be able to organize any big proportion of those 4,000,000 boys by use of the old-fashioned clap-net. It will probably take something new to appeal to them, a new outlook, an appreciation of new issues, perhaps new leaders—factors that will establish for them a connection between politics and life as they know it.

Our Water Problems

The one unfortunate proposal of the Sacramento Water Convention was its request to the governor to call a special session of the legislature to deal with the water question. It must first be properly dealt with by the interests directly concerned and concrete measures or issues formulated for the legislature to consider. And it may be found desirable to have a legislature chosen with special reference to the water problem. Nothing that the legislature or any one else can do can affect conditions of the present year, and there is ample time to formulate policies on broad lines looking to the indefinite future. The governor should not call an extra session. The executive and administrative authorities can do all that the legislature could do in respect to the present emergency. The Sacramento conference was called to deal with an emergency, and very few came to it with clear ideas as to any permanent policy. To the extent that members did come so prepared profound differences would have developed had they got down to details. For there are within the state actual differences of interest between localities, between power and irrigation and between vested rights and the general interest. All these are natural and inevitable. They should be allowed to develop so far as possible all may be understood and just and workable methods for harmonizing them devised and formulated. And until that has been done and a statewide public opinion has had time to be created any work of the legislature would be patchwork and putting together, merely laying the basis for interminable litigation. And there is still greater difficulty of creating a national public opinion, without which, and congressional action in conformity to it, nothing will provide any satisfactory settlement of our water problem. We are dealing with stream flows wholly within our state. Other states have similar problems, probably not generally realized, and in respect to which differences of interest and opinion will arise just as they will arise within our own state. We cannot deal in any permanent and adequate way with the water problems of California until congress has formally surrendered all control of streams wholly within a state. And until we recognize that nobody is competent to formulate any policy whatever for the permanent solution of our own water problem. That is a problem of such magnitude that it must be approached with profound study and deliberation in the light of all the facts even remotely bearing on the subject. It is more than probable that a session of the legislature hastily assembled under emergency conditions would do actual harm and promote internal antagonisms instead of state-wide cooperation.

A Tip From The Bear

Squaring Away for November

Nineteen twenty's Presidential campaign presents many innovations in American politics, yet they have been introduced so gradually that many people have overlooked the fact that there is something new in political procedure. Never before were there thus early so many avowed candidates conducting active campaigns. Early and general activity has been due largely to enactment of Presidential primary laws in many states. These laws give the voters an opportunity in their party primaries to express their preference for party nominees for the Presidency. The first law of the kind was enacted in Oregon and provided for a primary to be held in May. It was at once apparent that the state in which there should first be a direct expression from the people would exert a large influence on public opinion throughout the country. As a result there was an effort on the part of a number of states to set their primary dates early enough to be first to take a Presidential ballot. South Dakota now holds the first presidential primary, the date this year being March 23. South Dakota has also attracted nation-wide attention in several other respects. The law of that state provides for a pre-primary convention, at which the delegates designate a regular primary ticket. Candidates not thus endorsed may go on the ballot as independent candidates. The first candidate going on the ballot independently is accorded by the law the privilege of challenging the regular nominee to a joint debate, which challenge the regular nominee must accept in person or by proxy. Failing to accept, the nominee loses his place on the ballot. When the South Dakota delegate convention was held, Gen. Leonard Wood was endorsed. Immediately Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington filed as an independent candidate propounded questions to General Wood as provided by the law, and challenged General Wood to a joint debate. General Wood promptly accepted the challenge and the nation is about to witness a joint debate which in some respects will be as important as that of the famous controversy between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas in 1858, when they were rival candidates for the United States Senate. It is pretty generally agreed that we are in a critical period of our governmental history and that a debate between Wood and Poindexter may serve to define the issues that will be fought out in the campaign. The debate will occur March 20. Both Poindexter and Wood are experienced public speakers. The novelty of the joint debate in a Presidential campaign, something entirely without precedent, will undoubtedly draw crowds that will far surpass the capacity of any public hall in South Dakota, and will attract a reading audience of many millions who will peruse the reports of the speeches as they are printed in newspapers throughout the United States. Although statesmanship and the solution of governmental problems do not usually attract as much public attention as a contest for the heavyweight championship, or the pennant in the world series on the diamond, yet it is possible that this political debate will prove an exception and that the battle of brains in South Dakota will arouse as much public interest as the battle of brawn between prize fighters or baseball enthusiasts.

BECAUSE OF ONE
Because of one dear infant head
With golden hair,
To me all little heads
A halo wear;
And for one saintly face I knew
All babies are fair.
Because of two wide, earnest eyes
Of heavenly blue,
Which look with yearning gaze
My sad soul through,
All eyes now fill mine own with tears,
What'er their hue.
Because of little death-marked lips
Which once did call
My name in plaintive tones,
No voices fall
Upon my ears in vain appeal
From children small.
Two little hands held in my own.
Long, long ago,
Now cause me as I wander through
This world of woe
To clasp each baby hand stretched out
In fear of foe.
The lowest can not plead in vain—
I loved him so.

er cities. They thought of the wall paper and the floors, the stair treads and the mop boards, the noise and the plumbing. News dispatches indicate that the advertisement brought surprisingly satisfactory results, and that many of those who answered with offers of lodgings admitted that they saw the father's plight in a new light. Surely, it was time. Small hands are seldom clean, and small boots can do a lot of damage, but most men work and dream for those for whom they care. A child is more important than a dog. It is but natural that it should prove more trouble in the rearing.

I Did My Best

Contributed to the Register by Addie Hull Doerr, of Santa Ana
One night I dreamed that Walt Mason came to me, as I sat reading, and handed me a sheet of paper and a pen, asking me to write something for him—because he was so tired. All the help he would give me was to write a heading on that clean, white paper. So I did my best, and here it is:
ALL FOR THE IDOL OF GOLD
Our Heavenly Father from His throne above, while viewing the objects of His tender love, must surely behold the nations, one by one, as they crucify daily His son. Father, men know that command so old—"Thou" shalt have no gods but me,"—but today they have builded an idol of gold and before it bend the knee. What are the gifts to this idol men bring? All, all of themselves before it they fling. Health, intellect, happiness do they sacrifice to it; eternal welfare and life have they forfeited through it. The lives of weak brothers are sold into slavery, all for this idol of gold; womanly sweetness and purity, manly honor and bravery on its altar as gifts doth it hold. One class hisses "treason, rebellion and anarchy," as they bow to the idol of gold; another cries "oppression, inhumanity, monarchy," as their lives to gold's henchmen are sold. While the world stands, history will repeat itself; every nation is bound to fall that barter souls for wealth. Can we, as a nation, stem the tide of the inroads made by greed? To turn us back in our downward ride—where, oh where, is the man to lead?

ONTARIO, Mar. 5.—The City Council has raised the wages of the police force following a plea from the members that unless more money was forthcoming they would have to seek other jobs. ARRANGING PROGRAM FOR EASTER SERVICE
RIVERSIDE, Mar. 5.—There will be very little if any change in the program of the Easter morning sunrise service this year. The committee met yesterday afternoon with Marcella Craft, who will be the soloist, and discussed the program. Another feature of the program for Easter that will be pleasing is the decision to again have Gustav Hilverkus play "The Holy City" at the moment of sunrise, rather than the trumpeters who were here last year. Dr. Benjamin Haywood, of the First Methodist Episcopal church, will preside at the scriptural reading this year.

BOXING BOUTS HERE MARKED BY 'PEPPER'

Last night's boxing card staged at the Opera House, was considered a decided improvement over the previous show. The evening was marked by a little more "pep," and a local "jazz" orchestra furnished music which made the time go a little better between bouts.

The first bout of the bill was a three-round go between "Kid" Bush of Olive and Joe Volmer of Orange, at ninety-five pounds.

The little fellows mixed it pretty strong from the bell to the finish and went very well for a curtain-raiser. It was a very good draw.

The second bout was regarded as not having much force. The go was between "Kid" Scott of Olive and "Young" Berger of Anaheim, and was looked upon by the fans as more of a loving match than a boxing contest.

The next number gave the "bugs" a little change. It was a wrestling match between "Hefty" Baden of Anaheim and amateur champion of Kansas, and "Chunky" Davey of Orange, who was said never to have been thrown. It was hailed as a good fracas and some clever work was pulled, giving the fans a good chance to boost their favorite. It ended a draw.

"Kid" Taylor of Orange and "Lightning" Jenkin of Olive, at 135 pounds, were next on the bill and put on three rounds of pretty fair boxing. At least, the start of each round was fast, but the men seemed to tire toward the end of each session. The decision was given to Jenkins by a close margin.

The semi-windup, between Joe

Miller of Los Angeles and "Kid" Garcia of San Francisco was lively and as good as any of the bouts staged last night. Both boys boxed at 130 pounds.

The first round was even. In the second, Garcia slipped one through that floored Miller, who, however, was right up again, coming back in good shape. The round showed no advantage for either man. This also was the case in the third and fourth rounds. The decision was a good draw.

The main event was a four-round go between two colored boys, "Kid" Norman of Los Angeles and "Battling" Brooks of Bakersfield, at 136 pounds. It was a good mill and both men were well matched. There were several good punches delivered. Brooks landed on Norman's nasal organ and drew a little "claret" early in the game, the only occasion of the evening when crimson fluid was spilled. It was an evenly fought battle all the way through and some fans were inclined to question the decision, which was given in favor of Brooks. The bout would have made a good draw decision, several fans believed.

"Paddy" Dillon, a 122-pound man from San Diego, was introduced and it was stated that he would meet anybody in the state at his weight. He may be on the next bill staged at the Opera House.

Owing to the past performances that have been staged, people were rather skeptical as to the outcome of last night's venture. The manager knew this, and as a consequence got the best of material that was to be had on short notice.

It has taken three performances to show the management just what the people of Santa Ana demand in boxing and wrestling. Now that they have found out what is wanted, they promise good, fast, clean boxing bouts and wrestling matches in the future.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas On Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestant. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of persin pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."—Adv.

H. C. Seymour,
Orange County Distributor,
Case Tractors,
Dear Sir:

Our Case 10-18 Tractor was purchased last March and I have operated it since July with the best of satisfaction, since having it equipped with the Standard Bosh Magneto.

The largest part of my work has been orchard cultivating, and I have been using the John Gardiner 7 Ft. Cultivator which is especially adapted for tractor use. I have been using this tool at a depth of about 5 in. in our heavy soil.

In my estimation there are many points favoring this machine in comparison with horses or mules, especially at the present feed cost; with consumption going on regardless of work or time off.

The treatment received from the Case people has been very satisfactory and what little mechanical work that I have had done has been by real mechanics in their line.

An estimate of my daily cost of operation is in the neighborhood of $2.00.

To any rancher thinking of buying a tractor, I should recommend the Case 10-18 as the strongest built, best pulling and most reliable tractor for orchard use.

Yours very truly,
Signed HARRY A. TUBBS.

HIST! GOLD NUGEETS
CAUSE HEN'S DEMISE

ABERDEEN, Wash., Mar. 5.—The latest good story, told by Representative Phil S. Locke of this city purports to come from a rancher in the Hoh district, where placer claims have recently excited comment. This rancher always kept a large, deep dish of water for the fowls during the dry summer months. He was last summer much perplexed by the number of his fowls that drowned in the dish, seemingly unable to help themselves. An autopsy performed on a drowned hen revealed the fact that the bird's crop was so full of gold nuggets that it was held under water by the weight.

It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. ### DIVORCE SUIT HERE BARES NAME OF ARTESIA BANDIT'S MYSTERY GIRL SWEETHEART

CO-INCIDENT with the filing of a divorce suit in the local superior court by Charles W. James against Frances Eldora James, there was revealed one of the strangest stories ever interwoven in the history of a shattered romance, according to Attorney Leonard Evans, of Anaheim, who prepared James' suit for divorce.

Chief among the startling disclosures made in connection with the bringing of the divorce action here was that Mrs. James is the "mystery woman" who, under the name of Frances Kennedy, was the consort of Lewis B. Harris, bank robber and jail breaker extraordinary, who is now at San Quentin, serving what may extend into a twenty-year term in connection with burglarizing the Artesia bank.

According to Attorney Evans, James was in the navy when, for the first time in more than a year, he received word of the whereabouts of his wife. This notification, the Anaheim attorney said, came in the shape of a clipping from a Los Angeles newspaper, which contained a picture of the woman James Kennedy, and showing her in conference with Harris at the Los Angeles county jail. The picture in question was sent the navy man, whose home now is at Anaheim, by his brother.

Lewis B. Harris, the man now in the state's prison, is the "other man" named in James' complaint for divorce, according to Attorney Evans. Desertion is alleged by the plaintiff.

The picture which James received while in the navy was taken during one of the most remarkable conferences ever held in the Los Angeles county jail, on the night of February 24, last. Following the interview, which was between Harris' consort, who said her name was Frances Kennedy, and Harris, the latter packed up his suitcase and left for San Quentin.

The conference was that for which Harris traded his last chance for freedom. He agreed to withdraw his appeal from the two-to-twenty-five-year sentence imposed in Los Angeles for the robbery of the First National Bank of Artesia in return for two hours alone with Frances Kennedy, who was arrested with him.

The question of what Harris had to tell the girl that was worth the trade was not revealed at the Angel City jail. There were many theories about the institution, ranging from hypotheses dealing with the hiding places of vast loot and prospective escapes from San Quentin to the more prosaic declaration that Harris realized he was trading something of no value anyway—his chance for liberty on the evidence—for a last chance to see his "girl."

"I don't expect her to wait for me; it's too much to expect," Harris was quoted as having said after his talk with the young woman.

Harris was convicted of burglary of the Artesia bank and of grand larceny of a store adjoining. He was sentenced to San Quentin for from one to fifteen years for burglary and from one to ten years for grand larceny, the sentences to run consecutively. He lost an appeal to the appellate court and appealed to the state supreme court. The latter appeal was pending when he asked to see his consort for two hours on condition that he sign a waiver to the appeal.

Harris was a constant worry to the jailer, and the guards because of his repeated attempts to break out of jail, having once walked out of the institution by getting keys from a cabinet and once saved three bars off a window.

Following the conference with his "sweetheart," Harris was quoted as saying: "All that stuff about girls waiting for a fellow who is doing a long hitch is bunk. I never even asked her to wait. How could I?"

Outburst in Court

Harris was the central figure in a remarkable incident occurring in the superior court of Los Angeles county. Following a violent outburst by Harris, the court threatened to have the former gagged. Harris took an appeal to the appellate court on this point, this court holding that while it appeared that Harris had not been actually gagged, the judge of the lower court was within his rights in proposing this step to "muzzle" the prisoner.

Harris and the girl were arrested in Denver. The real identity of the young woman has remained a mystery until now. At first, in Los Angeles, she was said to have claimed Harris as her husband. Later she denied that they were wife and husband.

SETTLEMENT MADE IN $75,000 CASE

Settlement out of court has been reached in the action brought by R. H. Kenney against the Pacific Electric railway company for $75,000 as the result of an accident at the southerly approach to the old North Main street bridge in February, 1918, it was today stated by Attorney Clyde Bishop, who appeared before Superior Judge Williams and asked that the case go off the calendar.

The action recently was tried here before a jury, which failed to reach a verdict. The case was then re-set for trial early in April.

Kenney bringing the suit occurred when the front wheels of his automobile became lodged in the cattle-guard at the southerly end of the bridge.

He was standing in front of his machine, trying to dislodge the wheels, when an electric car approached, struck the automobile and catapulted him off the bridge and into the creek bed below. Kenney claimed he was permanently injured.

City," where visitors are made to feel at home. Invite them to visit the Chamber, where the Secretary should provide them with some suitable badge or button that would distinguish them as our guests, and entitle them to all the favors and courtesies that any member of the Chamber could consistently confer.

Committee Urges City to Concentrate Its Efforts

The report of the Committee on Improvements, with J. P. Baumgartner as chairman, made to the Chamber of Commerce, reads as follows: Pursuant to the call of the President, we beg leave to submit the following report:

Owing to abnormal industrial conditions with which we are all familiar, your committee has not deemed it advisable to make more than tentative recommendations in the way of public improvements. Moreover, the school bonds, harbor bonds and the many drives for funds for charitable purposes have made extraordinary financial demands upon the community, thus emphasizing the admonition of conservatism.

However, the tremendous growth of our city makes it imperative that we seriously consider the advisability of adopting a more aggressive policy in the matter of public improvements.

It is almost unanimously agreed that Santa Ana is just beginning to grow, and that looking to the future, even the present high prices for real estate are comparatively low. It would, therefore, seem expedient for the city to make an effort to secure such lands and lots as its future growth is sure to demand for parks, municipal auditorium, auto parking and camping grounds, etc. In the judgment of your committee all lands and lots suitable for such purposes are sure to advance in value far in excess of the rate of interest on the bonds the city would have to issue for their purchase. By this, we do not mean to recommend the immediate calling of bond elections for these purposes, but merely to enunciate an economic principle and indicate a municipal policy.

It would seem to be obvious that within a very few years the city will need for its own use the quarters now occupied by the Chamber of Commerce, and that a plan might be worked out to provide a combination municipal auditorium and Chamber of Commerce building, in which quarters might be provided also for the proposed new social-commercial club and a permanent home for the Santa Ana Post of the American Legion.

Perhaps not readily practicable, but certainly within the bounds of possibility, is the suggestion that the Chamber of Commerce might effectively interest itself in securing the remodeling of the new unsightly and antiquated store fronts of the city. We believe that in most instances the tenants would be willing to pay enough additional rental to justify the owner's investment, and that both owner and tenant would profit by the expenditure. If Santa Ana is to retain and increase its supremacy as the social, political and commercial center of Orange county it must make itself commercially attractive and up-to-date; and in no way could more be accomplished in that direction, on a purely business basis, than by remodeling all the old store fronts.

If your committee may be permitted to make a suggestion to general policy for the Chamber of Commerce, with respect to public improvements, it would be this—that the most important project that is feasible at this time be decided upon, and then concentrated upon until it is consummated. To have under consideration and discussion half a dozen or more projects at the same time has a tendency to divert and dissipate public sentiment and community effort, and render accomplishment exceedingly difficult is not impossible.

With Vision Things Will Then Come to Santa Ana

Fred Rafferty, chairman of the Committee on Parks, in his report at the annual meeting of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, said:

Stops Medicine— Health Recovered By Internal Baths

Mr. A. Czarnecki, 657 Montgomery St., San Francisco, Cal., writes:

"I must admit that the use of the 'J. B. L. Cascade' has cured chronic constipation from which I suffered. Since May 1912 I have never even tasted any kind of patent medicine or purgative. My health is excellent in every respect."

Over half a million bright, keen, that internal bathing is more essential to their health than external bathing. Have found that, used occasionally at night, they feel like different people the next morning. No more of that bilious, tired, nervous feeling, but having by nature's own cleanser—antiseptic warm water—removed all the poisonous waste from the lower intestine, they awake thoroughly refreshed by normal sleep, with all their functions acting properly, clear headed, happy and confident, eager and capable for the duties of the day.

Why not learn more about this rapidly growing and natural practice? The "J. B. L. Cascade" is the invention of Chas. A. Tyrrell, M. D. of New York, a specialist on internal baths for 25 years, and is now being shown and explained by Rowley's Drug Co. in Santa Ana, who will give you—free on request—an interesting booklet on the subject called "Why Man of Today is Only 50% Efficient."—Adv.

ed nearly a year ago, has been difficult to get together. We succeeded in holding two or three meetings at which a majority of the committee was present.

Several plans for additional parks for Santa Ana were discussed, but there appeared to be none satisfactory except at an expense which it seemed to us impossible to carry out at present.

We felt that with the High School bonds and possible street improvements to come during the year or just after, to call for a large bond issue for parks would be asking more than most of the citizens would grant.

Betterment of Cemetery Should Be Revived Soon

For the special committee of the Chamber of Commerce appointed to aid in the formation of a Santa Ana Cemetery district, the chairman, J. E. Liebig, reported to the Chamber of Commerce as follows:

As Chairman of the Cemetery Committee, I beg to report that our efforts were not successful in establishing a cemetery district. Your committee feels that it did the best it could at the time and that the work should be dropped, but as soon as the voters have registered for 1920 a mass meeting should be called and an organization effected for a real drive for signatures to another petition to establish a cemetery district and care for the abandoned cemeteries therein. We believe a petition can be secured much easier this time as the people have been educated to the need for improvement.

If at any time we can be of service to the Chamber of Commerce just touch the button and we, your committee, will be on the job.

MRS. FRED L. MARSH PNEUMONIA VICTIM

Succumbing to a second attack of influenza-pneumonia, after warding off a lighter attack of the flu and passing through a seige of mumps, Mrs. Cora M. Marsh died yesterday at her home in Anaheim. She had not the strength to resist the third illness.

Mrs. Marsh was the wife of Fred Leroy Marsh, recently cashier of the Southern Pacific company at Anaheim and previous to that time city ticket agent for the Salt Lake in Santa Ana for a year previous to the consolidation of the railroads, and she had many friends in this city. She was about thirty years of age. She was born in Boston and had been in California only about three years. Her father works on the Joe Callens bean ranch at Irvine.

She leaves a husband and two children. The children are just recovering from the flu. Funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Backs and Terry chapel at Anaheim. Interment will be either in Los Angeles or Glendale.

SUIT DISMISSED

Dismissal has been entered in a suit brought by Newton and C. M. Glazier, grocers, of La Habra, against David A. Davis and his wife, Mary F. Davis. Attachment of property was asked in the action, which involved a promissory note for $1189, given as evidence of the defendants' groceries. J. C. Burke and Charles D. Swanner were attorneys for the plaintiffs.

IS THE HAPPIEST WOMAN NOW IN THE STATE

"I believe I'm the happiest woman in California today, and it is all because of what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. Eugene Smith, a prominent and popular Los Angeles woman, who resides at 680 West 52nd street. Mrs. Smith is an officer of the Eastern Star and other organizations.

"For six years I suffered from a complication of troubles that finally led to a general break down. I had awful pains around my heart, which I was told, were caused by pleurisy. My kidneys were in such bad condition I had constant pains in my back and my neck and shoulders would get stiff at times and my limbs swelled so I could hardly walk. I was so nervous that even the ringing of the door bell upset me, and it seemed impossible to get a good night's sleep. I tried everything I could hear of to get relief, even to having all my teeth treated, but kept getting worse and became so weak and emaciated that I weighed only one hundred pounds. Finally they took me to the hospital and I stayed there six weeks, but did not seem to improve in the least, so I was brought home and had just about given up hope when a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac.

"I began to feel better after the first few doses and by the time I had taken four bottles of Tanlac I had gained eighteen pounds in weight and felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life, for every one of my troubles had left me.

FATHER AND DAUGHTER HAVE BIRTHDAY EVERY FOUR YEARS ON FEB. 29

WESTMINSTER, Mar. 5.—Mr. and Mrs. Will McClintock and children, Wilma and Jack, spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. McClintock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Larter. Other guests were Mrs. Aston Taylor and four children, and Buddie Hare and little sister, Mary Lou. The little folks are cousins and enjoyed a treat of cake and fello during the afternoon, the occasion being the anniversary of Wilma McClintock's birthday, which occurs only once in four years, as it falls on February 29, the same day as her father's. This is only the second birthday she has had the opportunity to celebrate, and feels that she is but two years old.

Falling twelve feet from a pepper tree he was trimming, Elias Pena, an employee of the city of Fullerton, broke his wrist.

AD VALOREM TAX DUE SOON, DECLARED

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 5.—It is only a question of a short time until the state will be compelled to levy an ad valorem tax on all assessed property in order to meet the expenses of government, Supervisor Cogswell declared, in opposing plans to increase the present assessments against property in this city. The matter was brought to the official attention of the board of supervisors. During the ensuing discussion Mr. Cogswell outlined California's financial position.

If assessments are raised and then an ad valorem tax is levied by the state, he pointed out, Los Angeles will be compelled to pay more than her just share of the expense of state government. He contended that at present, property in this county is more heavily assessed, in proportion to its real value, than are holdings in any other large county in California.

SHOOTS DAUGHTER, THEN KILLS SELF

PASADENA, Mar. 5.—Miss Dorothy Brown, a 17-year-old girl living at 140 South Hermosa street, Sierra Madre, was shot and seriously wounded by her father, Charles Brown, while endeavoring to prevent him shooting himself. After shooting the girl, Brown went into an adjoining room and shot himself through the head, dying instantly. Brown's suicide was due to worry over financial troubles. He announced to his wife and daughter at breakfast his intention of taking his life and drew a revolver. Mrs. Brown and the girl succeeded in disarming him and laid the revolver on the table. Suddenly Brown grabbed the gun and in the struggle which followed, a shot was fired, the bullet passing through the girl's left hand and into her side, lodging just below the heart. Brown rushed into a bedroom and shot himself through the brain, death being instantaneous.

The trend of prices was upward during yesterday's session on the local produce market, and demand and movements were active, particularly during the early hours of the day's trading. Country receipts were liberal, and mostly of good quality, but arrivals by rail were very limited. Only three cars of potatoes were received yesterday, two from California and one from Oregon. Burbanks were firm, but Russets and bakers took a sharp jump in price, the former moving up to $6.00 and $6.15 per hundred, an increase ranging from 40 to 50 cents. The rise in the market for bakers amounted to 50 cents per hundred. All varieties met with a very brisk demand.

Fancy apples were firm and unchanged at Wednesday's prices. A large quantity of offerings of poor quality are being sold at low prices, exerting a depressing effect on the market, but these grades are moving steadily. It is expected that they will be cleaned up within a few days, when a reaction toward higher prices is expected. California Newtows were higher yesterday, selling at an advance of 10 cents per packed box, while by the pound the increase amounted to 15 cents. Winter bananas are practically off the market, very few being offered at the present time.

WHALE HUNTING ADVENTURES OUTLINED

"Whale Oil Gus," whose name is Folger, and his companion, Little Monday Brown, at the Santa Ana high school assembly yesterday gave a vivid picture of life on the sea.

The sea captain and whale hunter is 72 years old and hasn't a gray hair on his head. He spent thirty years on the sea; twelve as the captain of a ship and eighteen as a whale hunter.

A whale hunting vessel was described. The speaker said that there were always thirty-two men on the ship. Unless there are whales caught the men receive no wages. A share of the price of the whale makes it what they get out of it.

Little Monday was introduced as the only American ever born on a whale ship. How the whales are sighted, and the queer sing-song way in which the sailor on watch informs the officer below of his discovery, was demonstrated by Little Monday and Captain Folger answered his calls.

The spawn whale is able to stay longest under water.

How he fell overboard from 140 feet and how he swam for fourteen hours when he had never swam before, was one of the thrilling adventures the old man has passed through.

"A few years ago," said he, "or rather fifty years ago, in the islands found scattered around, one might encounter cannibals and be speared and eaten, but now our missionaries have taught them our Bible and our books that we study here." A Sandwich Island hymn translated and sung is quite as solemn and reverent as American hymns.

"The mouth of the whale will permit 25 men to stand in it when open, but though some people think its eyes and ears would also be monstrous, a person's fist would not pass through its throat and its eyes are no bigger than a cow's."

But the whale is not a fish but an animal and that its young are produced not by eggs, but the same as ordinary animals, was an interesting fact disclosed.

The baby whale usually measures six and one half to eight and one feet long, and the largest whale, Whale Oil Gus has ever seen was 105 feet long.

Seeing forty-two men killed all at one time is one of the horrible sights Folger witnessed, and Little Monday recited a poem called "The Sailors' Grave" after the incident had been told.

Five or six valuable substances found in the whale, were exhibited. How they are obtained and their uses were explained.

Seven wrecks and four mutinies are listed in the captain's exciting adventures. During one week he said that thirty-two prayers went up at once and the ship was saved. "No matter how sinful a man may have been," says Whale Oil Gus, "when he prays to God his prayers are always answered."

When only eleven years old, Gus was left motherless. After a few years his father married a widow who had some children of her own and the boy didn't feel welcome so he left his home and went to sea as a cabin boy.

His first trip on the sea was quite exciting for him, as he was very ignorant. This was shown first, when he heard the call, "Heave up the anchor." He thought they were all getting seasick and were going to heave up their dinners. After ten hours on the water, the ship began to toss and then the poor boy "heaved."

Exactly how the whale is harpooned and brought to the side of the ship and there cut up, was fully described to the student.

The best body ever made, was made by an Irishman and the captain has it with him. "You can't get the best of an Irishman," says he.

The sum of $5000 was once offered for the harpoon, that is 100 years old. It was made from an old-fashioned gun that belonged to Folger's grandfather.

A whale of 1,000 years, has 125 barrels of oil in its system, and this is contained under the creature's tail.

The mutiny story which the captain likes to tell and which he takes a good deal of time on, is something like this:

There was a bad man on the ship, the second mate. His terrifying and kicking the body over the deck of the ship after the man had died, caused the mutiny and when night came on one of the crew crept up and murdered the second mate. The crew was then captured and taken to land in irons, where they were tried. When the testimonials were at an end the judge rose and said, "Gentlemen of the Jury, I had seen Mr. Francis killed about the deck in that manner, I wouldn't have waited till night, I would have killed him the man at that moment."

The crew was then discharged. In conclusion of his interesting lecture the old seaman told the students that there were three men in the country that deserved to be remembered in the prayers of every family and these are, the soldier, the fireman, and the sailor.

ALL ADDRESSES OUGHT TO BE MADE PLAIN

(By C. D. OVERSHINER)
(Postmaster)

The postoffice department desires to call the attention of business firms and others, who are accustomed to mailing out third class matter, in regard to having the proper and complete address on the same. In many instances it is the practice to write the name as briefly as possible, using only one initial. This practice results in the misdelivery of a considerable amount of this matter because of the fact that very frequently two or more patrons of a post office have the same name and initial.

For example, a valuable piece of mail addressed to "E. Allen" was delivered first to Edmund Allen, although intended for Essie Allen.

Write the common or Christian names in full whenever it is possible and to use two or more initials for each name, when known.

It is also frequently impossible to deliver large quantities of third class mail, such as circulars, etc., because of the sender's failure to include the street, rural or post office box numbers in the addresses. Such mail is not entitled to directory service and in order to be delivered it should be completely addressed when mailed.

The post office department wishes to call the attention of all the advantages of possessing a copy of the United States Official Postal Guide. To business concerns it is most essential; in libraries it is a necessary book of reference. It should be used as a book of instruction in every educational institution; and to the private individual it is a source of help both to himself and his family.

The Guide, taken in connection with the monthly supplement, is always up to date. A letter with a $1 money order directed to the "Disbursing Clerk, Post Office Department, Washington, D. C." will pay for a year's subscription.

In a new post office ruling, purchasers of stamped envelopes ordered for use in transmitting mail of the third class can print as part of the corner card a pledge to pay return postage. For example: "Return Postage Guaranteed." Understand this only applies to mailing third class matter.
